

Frisch Leaves for Geneva, 1st Indiana W.Z.O. Delegate

Declaring that he was keeping an open mind on the question of re-election of Dr. Chaim Weizmann to the presidency of the World Zionist Organization, Daniel Frisch, delegate to the W. Z. O. Congress August 16 in Geneva, left Indianapolis Tuesday for New York where he will embark tomorrow aboard the S.S. Champlain for Europe.

"Much depends on the caliber of the man who could be found to succeed Dr. Weizmann," Mr. Frisch said. "I don't care to say that he should not resign, but it must be remembered that Dr. Weizmann may know and be prepared to tell the Congress of affairs and events which have not been made public and which may throw an entirely different light on the present situation."

One one point, Mr. Frisch was definite. He was going to Geneva to take a real hand in the activities and participate fully in the Congress. Mr. Frisch is one of the few delegates who can read and speak fluently the Hebrew language in which all deliberations will be carried on.

Mr. Frisch expressed less concern about the British White Paper than most Zionist leaders. "White Paper or no White Paper, the key to the Jewish future, and the future of Palestine lies in the hands of the Jews of England, the United States and other free nations." What the Jews of the world do will decide the fate of Palestine, Mr. Frisch believes. "There is no question in my mind," Mr. Frisch declared, "but that we would be able to build a real home in Palestine if world Jewry would support Zionism. There are today still too many Jews remaining like those who in the 1920's held up development of Palestine by their opposition to the Zionist movement, and even now when Palestine is obviously the only haven for persecuted European Jews, these self-contented leaders are ready and eager to join the opposition forces and fight Zionism."

A man who almost single handed built the Indianapolis Zionist District, Mr. Frisch is the first Jew of Indiana ever to be elected a delegate to the World Zionist Congress. He lives, eats, and sleeps Zionism and ever since the day when he arose to startle a meeting of Indiana leaders some fifteen years ago with his outspoken views on Zionism, has adhered unswervingly to his self-delegated task of building support for Zionist aims throughout Indiana.

"I believe I will come home with a happy message," Mr. Frisch said in parting. "Jews need not be too deeply shaken by the White Paper. No one who knows Jewish history can take a broken promise by any government too seriously."

POLES HERE BUY COLONY

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Purchase of a colony in Palestine for the settlement of 500 Jewish families from Poland was announced by the Federation of Polish Jews in America. The step was taken in accordance with a decision at the Federation's recent annual convention. The colony, to be named Polonia, is situated ten miles south of Haifa.

Hebrew School Teacher Here Rides Bicycle To New York

If you drove to New York recently, you might have seen a cyclist steadily pumping up and down on his new model speed bicycle en route to the World's Fair.

During the winter, he teaches Hebrew at the Neustadt Talmud Torah here, but now he is a lover of the out-of-doors, and a traveller de luxe, observing with much more closeness than is possible in most other ways, his adopted land.

He is Zalmon Cohen, native of Palestine, music-lover and Hebrew school teacher.

Before leaving Indianapolis, Zalmon, whose library of classical music is as extensive as any in the Jewish community, practiced every Sunday on the rural roads of Indiana. "I can make 100 miles a day, without tiring myself," Zalmon declared. When it was pointed out that this mileage might be possible for one day or two days, but not for a week's stretch, Zalmon declared with fervor that he could keep up that average for as long as he wanted to.

Sunburned to a deep tan by his weekly excursions throughout the Hoosier State, Zalmon should be almost ready to return by the time you read this, or at the latest in a day or so. He intends to visit relatives while there and to view the Palestine exhibit to renew memories of the land of his birth. Last summer, Zalmon returned to

REFUGEE GROUP FORMED; REJECT GOODS' TRANSFER

Jewish Agency Reply

The Colonial Secretary appealed to the Jews to co-operate with the policy of the White Paper. He bases the appeal on gratitude due for the actions of former British governments and former colonial secretaries, whose work he is attempting to undo. That gratitude is felt and will continue to be felt. It goes out today to the British nation and to those in Parliament who oppose these attempts. Jews are aware that even among those who have not yet expressed opposition many feel serious, growing misgivings with regard to the White Paper policy.

The Jewish Agency for twenty years made loyal co-operation with the mandatory power the basis of its work and looks forward to the time when it will be enabled to resume full co-operation. But they state once more that the policy of the White Paper is devoid of moral and legal basis and is calculated to destroy the last and holiest possession of the Jewish people—the national home. They cannot be expected to help implement the White Paper and refuse to be made in any way responsible for the inevitable consequences of the Government's new immigration policy.

Britain Accepts Bid For White House Meet

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—It was officially announced that the British Government has accepted President Roosevelt's invitation to be represented at a White House conference on the refugee problem during the first week in September. The British representatives to the meeting will be Lord Winterton and Sir Herbert Emerson, chairman and director, respectively, of the Intergovernmental Refugee Committee.

Also invited to the conference are the committee's five vice-chairmen, representing the United States, France, the Netherlands, Brazil and the Argentine. The president's invitation was conveyed to the committee's directorate by Myron C. Taylor, American vice-chairman, at the plenary session of the committee in London last week.

Jewish Agency Turns Down British Appeal

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—The Jewish Agency for Palestine, rejecting Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald's appeal in Commons for cooperation with the Government in effecting its new Palestine policy, refused to take responsibility for the "inevitable consequences" of the ban on immigration. The action was taken after Commons, by a slim margin, had voted approval of the six-month ban on Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Defending his decree banning Jewish immigration to Palestine for six months from a bitter onslaught by members of all parties, MacDonald accused the Jews of conspiring, through illegal immigration, to flout British authority and to "smash the White Paper policy." He asserted illegal immigration "is producing the gravest unrest among the Arab population."

"It is making that population—and it is designed by its authors to do so—suspicious of the sincerity of His Majesty's Government in carrying out the White Paper policy," he said. "Once more distrust of our good faith and good word is becoming widespread not only among the Arabs of Palestine, but of the countries beyond." He promised that if illegal immigration should cease, the Government would revoke its ban on legal immigration and allow Jews to enter up to the limits set in the White Paper.

Rabbi Wise Among Ten From U. S. On Governing Board

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—Establishment of an interdenominational corporation to facilitate emigration of refugees, but which definitely rules out financing the transfer of any goods from the Reich, was announced in connection with the conference of the Intergovernmental Refugee Committee. The announcement was made at a press conference in the Foreign Office by Harold Linder, American business man who is one of the group that has participated actively in the planning and the establishment of the corporation.

Emphasizing that it was entirely private and non-sectarian, Linder said the corporation, known as the Coordinating Foundation, would have at its disposal a capital of $1,000,000, which will come from individuals and organizations. The money, Linder emphasized, will not be spent for relief or for financing the transfer of any goods from the Reich. Intergovernmental committee officials informed the J.T.A. that the foundation did not need recognition by the German Government.

Linder listed the following aims of the foundation: (1) cooperate with the League of Nations, governments, individuals and organizations working to improve conditions of persons who are subjected to political and racial discrimination in Germany; (2) endeavor to improve the conditions of the above persons who are unable to emigrate; (3) ensure orderly emigration of involuntary emigrants from the Reich; (4) cooperate with individuals and organizations in investigations for settlement; (5) establish a secretarial, intermediary agency for facilitating the transfer of goods and assets for use by the emigrants but not for sale.

The foundation will have its headquarters at London and will be administered by a directorate of 20, half of them Americans and half Europeans. Linder said the directorate would include the following Americans: Former Ambassador John W. Davis, Owen D. Young, former Ambassador Dave Hennen Morris, former Governor Nathan L. Miller of New York, Rufus Jones, chairman of the American Friends (Quakers) Service Committee; Paul Baerwald, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, former Justice Joseph M. Proskauer, Lewis L. Strauss and Lessing Rosenwald. Among the British members will be Lord Bearsted, Lionel Cohen, Anthony de Rothschild, Sir Horace Rumbold, former Ambassador to Germany and a member of the Peel Royal Commission, and Sir John Hope Simpson, director of the Refugee Survey of the Royal Institute of International Affairs.

UNITARIANS BEGIN COUGHLIN OFFENSIVE

First Speech In Drive Delivered In Detroit On National Hook-up

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
DETROIT.—A national program for the preservation of democratic government was launched by the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, an adjunct of the Unitarian Church, with a radio address by Rev. Walton E. Cole of Toledo. Dr. Cole spoke this week at the Naval Armory on "Hitler Over America—Exposing the Propagandists Who Are Undermining Democracy." Selection of Detroit as the scene of the inaugural Unitarian program against forces of intolerance, and primarily against Coughlinism, was announced by the Rev. Dale DeWitt, president of the Fellowship.

Regarding the controversy between Father Coughlin and Elliott Roosevelt, Cole declared: "It is easy to confuse the issue raised in this controversy between Coughlin and young Roosevelt. The issue is not Father Coughlin against the Jews. It is more fundamental than that. It is really Father Coughlin's intolerance against the American way of tolerance and good will. . . . Coughlin's clumsy attempts to unsay his anti-Jewish utterances by verbal sword-swallowing is a transparent trick that will fool no one who has read Social Justice articles or who has carefully followed the radio priest's intolerant and vacillating course. Again Father Coughlin proves that he can hand it out but he can't take it!"

Archbishop Hits Bias

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
MILWAUKEE.—Slandering of Jews by "certain individuals, who to gain and hold a popular audience, degrade themselves and abuse the trust reposed in them by misquoting, half-quoting and actually insinuating untruths" has been denounced by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, member of the Administrative Board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and Archbishop of Milwaukee, in a letter to Rabbi Joseph L. Baron.

"Now it is all too true," he wrote, "that your people have been the victim in our day of a wicked movement which distorts truth and gilds falsehood." In this Jews have the sympathy of Catholics, declared Archbishop Stritch, for "Catholics too are the victims of vile propaganda and a very hatred of truth." He exhorted sane men to "keep cool heads" in the face of nefarious propaganda, and guide public opinion in safe channels pointing out that in the end "truth does conquer."

Accuse Jews As 5 More Arabs Slain

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERUSALEM.—Five Arabs were killed and eight others wounded in a renewed burst of violence that was officially attributed to Jews. Gunfire accounted for the victims who were attacked in Tel Aviv, Petach-Tikvah and Rehoboth. The authorities immediately invoked punitive measures, suspending Jewish traffic to and from Tel Aviv. The Florentine quarter of Tel Aviv, and all of Petach Tikvah and Rehoboth were put under curfew until further notice. The military commander of the southern district warned Mayor Israel Rokach of Tel Aviv that the punishment would be increased in the event the attacks were repeated.

in the United States if it should be allowed to continue. Dr. John Stewart Burgess, of Temple University, told the Summer Institute for Social Progress at Wellesley.

No Grounds For Bias

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

The theologians held that Christianity always must be concerned with justice for all.

Cincinnati Plans Anti-Coughlin Series Of Radio Programs

Special
CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Cincinnati will join the chain of cities sponsoring anti-Coughlin broadcasts Sunday, August 6, when the Rev. Joseph F. Fletcher, dean of the Graduate School of Applied Religion (Episcopal) inaugurates a series of weekly addresses over WCKY at 3:30 p. m.

Sponsored by the American League for Peace and Democracy, the programs have scheduled the following leading citizens: Aug. 13, Rev. E. L. Souder of Grace-St. Luke Episcopal Church; Aug. 20, Edward Moeller, attorney and past commander of Guth Brothers Post of the American Legion; Aug. 27, Charles L. S. Easton, headmaster of University School; Sept. 10, Julius Holzberg, attorney; Sept. 17, Rev. Jesse Halsey, president of the Cincinnati Federation of Churches and Sept. 24, J. Harvey Kearns, Cincinnati Negro leader.

Other cities which are already broadcasting anti-Coughlin programs are Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York.

FILLED STEAK

Ingredients: Shoulder steak, medium thickness; shredded potatoes. Shred potatoes, mix with onion, pepper, salt, chicken fat, and paprika. Roll the steak around the mixture, so that it makes a loaf. Put onion, pepper, salt, celery and carrots in a pan, with no water, and put in the oven until it is slightly browned. Then lay the steak loaf in, and roast for one or one and a half hours. Start with a slow fire, and then increase. This recipe can also be made with a filling of bread or rice.

Herald-Trib, News, Mirror Back Bill

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Three metropolitan newspapers, the Herald-Tribune, the Daily News and the Daily Mirror, published editorial comment on the refugee situation, all three agreeing on the urgency of Congress passing the Wagner-Rogers bill, for admission of 20,000 children from Germany in two years, in unamended form.

Praising the work of the Inter-governmental Refugee Committee, the Herald Tribune declared Americans could not afford to talk "too loudly" about the "savagery" of nations responsible for the refugee situation "as long as so simple and innocuous a measure as the Wagner bill . . . still languishes in the Senate, which in the course of weeks has done nothing with it save attach a brutally crippling amendment." Expressing the hope that President Roosevelt's conference with the Evian committee's directorate in September may coordinate and speed up the refugee work, the News cited the Wagner-Rogers bill "one swift, concrete and constructive piece of refugee relief work." The Mirror listed six ways in which the United States, if it "wished to hear the pitiful call of distress from the persecuted in Europe," could help the refugees.

PEOPLE And PLACES

I see by the papers where they have chosen this year's All-American football team to oppose the professional maulers in Chicago the night of August 30. Mind you, I said "All American," and during the whole game you will probably hear, "O'Brien steps back now, he's spotting his receiver and bango, there goes a long pass to Goldberg!" Both Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian University and Marshall Goldberg of Pitt are in the starting line-up.

After seeing nary a soul in our ol' burg for the past few weeks, I ambled up to South Haven, Mich., last week-end and learned what the trouble was. The whole burg is up there sunning and funning themselves. Harold Weil drove in for a few days and he was followed by Dr. Bernie Hyman. The Doc spent most of his time trying to balance a bicycle. Al Morris, Dave Morris, Maurice Morris, Seymour Weiss, of South Bend; Art Sapiro, Izzy Dubin, Jack Calderon and Amos Nahmias are among the male members exhibiting their manly physiques on the sandy shores of the big blue waters. Among the fair sex are Sally Passo Mollie Litvak, Annette Lieberman and a few whose faces were familiar.

Picked up a copy of last week's Indiana Jewish Chronicle and began to read the column of sports written by Irv Kupcinet. Irv, by the way, works on the Chicago Daily Times and I recently had the pleasure of making his acquaintance. Well, I started to read about a coming fight between Tony Galento and Joe Louis and thought that perhaps they were re-matched. However, it went on to say that "Yussel Jacobs" is picking Mr. Two-ton Tony to bowl over Joe Louis on the night of June 23. It seems our worthy competitors are a little behind times.

As usual a party of rug-cutters cavorted at Westlake last Sunday night. Sam Fox of Gary, who is visiting here, was with Sylvia Epstein, Harold Kaplan and Leona Berman hoofed it together. Art Goldberg was with Mimi Bluestein and Frances Kaufman was with a fellow whose name escapes me for the nonce. Looking 'round the floor, we also spied Ed Rose with Adele Herwitz, Bernie Kaseff and Alta Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. Daggie Leve and Joan Weiss and Jack Larman.

By the way Jack, ol' kid, ol' sock, quit trying to flirt with streetcars, Joan might get jealous. Anyway, I saw you the other day, I believe on Ohio street, and as you attempted to go around a car, one of our Toonerville Trolley's came close enough so that you could have shaken hands with the motorman! Those babies can do some mean and thorough cutting up, and I'm glad you didn't get too chummy.

Morton Greenberger, a chap from the hick State of New York, has been working in our Metropolis for the past year and it seems that very few people know of him. Well, he is working on the Community Welfare drive this summer, attends Indiana University during the fall, is five feet ten inches tall, is dark, wears a mustache and is a killer-diller. Don't rush gals.

Al Levenberg of Gary stopped over last week-end to visit his bit o' heaven, Marjorie Green. You see, Marj was 19 years old last Friday and Al came to wish her well. His gifts to her included a white orchid, a bunch of all-day suckers and a music box in the form of a miniature baby grand piano. When the lid is lifted, it plays "I Love You Truly." Need anymore be said?

Attention, Miss Minnie Moyer of Ft. Wayne: As our young people's organization is named the "Temple Youth Group," I took it for granted that yours went by the same name when I reported your dance held at the Ft. Wayne Country Club recently. I am glad to pass the information along that your club is called the "Ft. Wayne Jewish Junior League" and is affiliated only with the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth.

Talk of your marathon baseball games, your golfers who whack a little pill until they can't see straight in an attempt to score a hole-in-one, and your college fish gulpers, they don't hold a candle to Mrs. Harry (Mabel) Block. We learned, on good authority, that she plays tennis, and a mighty wicked game, too, daily, and thinks it nothing to complete seven or eight sets before calling it quits. Try that every day for a while, some of you big, tough Lochinvars, and see if you can stay in front of the eight ball.

So many pipples are sporting dark glasses these days that it makes a guy slug-nutty. I see someone on the street, start to say, "hi," stop and then start again and when I'm all through don't know who it was I spoke to or didn't give a tumble. Of the large number encountered, only one fellow didn't have me guessing, not even for a minute. I saw Jack Maurer, and I knew it was this proud poppa as the minute I saw him he started to talk about how much money a certain car was worth on a trade-in!

Well, got the cookin' on the stove and the washin' in the tub, so I'd better amble along. Drop us a note once in a while, and be with us again next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Borinstein entertained last week with a surprise stag party for their son "Peebe," who celebrated his twenty-first birthday.

INDIANA FUR CO.

Someone would think that the New York World's Fair, the San Francisco Exposition or the greatest show on earth came to rest at 29 East Ohio street if they judged by the crowds surrounding that particular spot. Just as curious as anyone else, I walked over, stuck my neck out and expected to see a Man from Mars, King Kong or Tarzan of the Apes; but they were not among those present. However, I did see gorgeous windows, beautiful displays and crowds of people pushing their way into the INDIANA FUR CO. Yes, lassies, since their July and August Fur Sale has started, the Davidson Bros. have played to standing room only because never, in the history of the fur business has such amazing values been offered at such prices. Quality, style, and unusualness mark the coats being offered. Go down there, drag the ol' man along, let him take a look and he'll take the pinchers off the pocketbook.

And say, while speaking of the INDIANA FUR CO., they've got two of the most gorgeous, delectable creatures modeling furs that ever stepped out of a fashion magazine. One resembles Deanna Durbin, the other is the image of Gladys George. Better put blinders on your spouse or he won't pay much attention to the coats.

Abraham Goldberg, who is one of our favorite Zionist leaders, is the most elusive of mortals.

Months now, this reporter has been after Ab to sit for his annual interview. The best he could manage, however, was a glimpse of Ab here, a flash of him there, and that was all.

Goldberg, he of the flying gray locks, the cherubic smile and the silver tongue; Ab had become a veritable will-o'-the-wisp. Things, Peters said to himself, had come to a pretty pass when Goldberg couldn't be cornered for a few words on this and a few on that; especially, at a time like this.

Climax of what was fast becoming an impossible situation came last week, when the word went out that Ab was about to sail for the Geneva battle-of-the-century Congress. The time had come for desperate tactics and the d. t.'s were resorted to. A posse was sent out with instructions to capture our will-o'-the-wisp and bring him in dead or alive.

Ab looked unusually well, brown as a Japanese beetle, but there was something about him that somehow seemed different. There was that about him that suggested calm, peace, quiet, restfulness. Somehow or another, maybe because of his flying locks, our impression of him was always one of storm and strife—ah, that was it, his hair!

Believe it or not, Ab's hair was combed almost flat, so that not a strand was out of place. It was most annoying. The matter was tactfully mentioned and, with one swoop of his eloquent fist, Goldberg obliged, roughed up his locks and immediately looked himself.

"Well," Peters breathed in relief, "now we can talk. What do you know and what's going to happen at Geneva?"

"Jabotinsky," Ab shot back mournfully, "made a big mistake, a grave mistake when he removed himself from the W. Z. O."

Heresy! Treason! What was the man saying? Had his momentary experiment with a new hair-do unsettled him?

Nothing of the sort, Ab assured. It was simply ABC. Jabotinsky, by removing himself from WZO, had destroyed the only effective opposition within the organization. Opposition within any movement is invaluable. Not only to the movement itself, but to those who direct the opposition.

"The WZO should have a paid Opposition," Ab said, "just as the British Government does."

Imagine! Zionist Opposition Leader Ussishkin, or Z. O. L. Wise, or Z. O. L. Goldman! And actually paid to tear Zionist Prime Minister Weizmann apart whenever the occasion warrants—and even when it doesn't warrant.

"Yes," chimed in Goldberg, "Jabotinsky, if he had been patient, could at this juncture in Zionist history, have stepped into the breach as the man about whom the Zionist Opposition could have rallied. Within the organization he could do that. On the outside looking in, Jabotinsky is just another outsider."

If Jabotinsky were still a member in good standing in the Zionist fraternity, he might at this moment be elected president of the WZO. He almost certainly would, Goldberg said, ride to the top on the crest of the wave of indignation in the wake of the British White Paper and the MacDonald immigration edict.

"But now," Ab averred, "now what have we got to offer the British if, the Weizmann policy toward Britain having failed, its proponent decides not to stand for re-election? When the Irishman Cosgrave's policy of co-operation with Britain failed, the Irish Free State gave Britain de Valera. Now that Weizmann's policy has failed, whom have we got to fling in Britain's teeth?"

The answer, Goldberg mournfully continued, is nobody. If not Weizmann, there are only men who have followed Weizmann's shadow. So Weizmann, by default, will have to continue in office. And Jabotinsky, the Revisionist who had no patience, is to blame.

Well, Ab, bon voyage and maybe that Opposition will somehow spring to life at Geneva and give those Britishers something to think about even as de Valera.

LEO SELIG BELIEVES
CITY NEEDS A COMMUNITY COUNCIL

By BERNICE KAPLAN

Anyone who has a complimentary opinion on the Jewish situation in Indianapolis must look sharp, or Leo Selig, youthful president of the Beth-El Men's Club, will begin pointing out fallacies, and giving a lot of "inside" information.

Enthusiasm unlimited characterizes Leo, vice president of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, member of the Jewish Education Association, being first vice president two years ago, member of B'nai B'rith, and the Indianapolis Jewish Aid. He is also a member of the executive boards of the regional and local Zionist organizations, Beth-El Temple, and is secretary of the Jewish National Fund Council of Indianapolis. But woe to the person who calls him a "joiner." Connotations which this term immediately arouses are erroneous when applied to Leo. His sole reason for participating in the functions of these various organizations is that he really believes in the work they are doing. Otherwise, he would be just as rabidly not in favor of them.

At mention of a Jewish community council for Indianapolis, Leo becomes positively persuasive. It is his opinion that our local Jewish community could stand a lot of alteration, including an honest attempt to organize more compactly and thereby reduce the confusion and disputes which are now prevalent. A community council, representing all organizations and factions, would be the most logical solution.

When not at his work, scrap metal business, Leo is a nice quiet "family man," married, and with two children, Jerome Martin, age seven, and Judith Fran, not quite two years old. Leo admits he does not have much time to devote to relaxing, but he does get out with a few cronies and play golf. And then, there is always the candid camera! He hasn't escaped the

HOLLYWOOD—Paul Muni, who hasn't been behind the footlights since 1932, plans a trip back to the grease paint. "Key Largo" is the play. . . . Electric COOKING IS THE ANSWER

Smart women have learned that electricity, the truly modern fuel as used by Hotpoint for cooking, is the one way to cook and keep cool.

Electricity generates no excess heat. It is conducted through bottom of pans to food. None escapes around sides of utensils to raise kitchen temperature.

Heavy oven insulation keeps heat in the oven.

The Editor's Chair,

One of our Indianapolis Jewish businessmen is such a kindly fellow. And so outspoken, too. "I wouldn't buy anything from you," he told the wife of a refugee who has been here only three weeks, "because you are a refugee, and we have troubles enough of our own here without your kind." The woman was trying to help her husband eke out an existence after having been torn from her home in Germany. And our pleasant businessman was trying to show the refugee that not all of the Nazi-minded people are in Germany.

Talking about refugees, I spent a fruitless hour-and-a-half trying to out-talk a refugee and his wife who persistently maintained that Germany was the greatest nation of all, that the Jewish question could not be considered because the Jews were not that important, that in Germany there was no unemployment, no slums, no limitation of freedom, and no fear of war. Here he was a walking denial of everything he said, yet he painfully continued to stress the unemployment here, the slums, the empty shell of what we call freedom and so on and on. And then we turned to the question of morals. Was Germany justified, I practically threw at him, when it took over Czechoslovakia? Do you think he blinked an eye. "The Czechs hated Germany, and therefore Germany was right in conquering them." Hard-headed Dutchman! Why it is easier to convince a lion to stop beating your leg than persuade a German that "Deutschland Ueber Alles" is just a nursery rhyme.

The Shame of Indiana Jewry

WHEN Daniel Frisch, delegate to the World Zionist Congress in Geneva, left Indianapolis Tuesday without arranging his accommodations though the James Whitcomb Riley Tours, he epitomized the shameful indifference of Indianapolis and Indiana Jewry to one of the finest pieces of work by any Jewish organization in the community's recent history.

There can be no doubt as to Mr. Frisch's allegiance to every Zionist cause. Yet by his failure he definitely went a long way toward making another Jewish child stay in the European hell instead of finding a happy place in the sunny life of Palestine.

What is The James Whitcomb Riley Tours? You should have known long before this, but for those who fall into the same class as Mr. Frisch, here is your information.

Seeking to aid Palestine's children, Mrs. L. L. Goodman, sister-in-law of Mrs. J. A. Goodman, a member of the National Board of Hadassah, went to the heirs of James Whitcomb Riley, explained the work Hadassah was doing for Jewish and Arab children, and secured their permission to use the name of the revered Indiana poet for their enterprise. That accomplished, Mrs. Goodman went to New York, interviewed hotel people, railroad officials, and finally returned with plans for the formation of the James Whitcomb Riley Tours, a complete travel bureau.

Under The Tours, anybody going anywhere can make their accommodations through them, and at no additional cost The Tours secure the regular travel agency's commission for every hotel you visit, for every steamship ticket you buy. It is simple enough. You call The Tours, Riley 3939, tell them you are going to New York, or Detroit, or Los Angeles, or to Europe. You want to stop at the Hotel Edison, The Detrolter, or any hotel anywhere. Then when you get to your destination you just register at the hotel, say you made your reservations through The James Whitcomb Riley Tours, and Youth Aliyah gets a check for their commission. Even if you fly, let The Tours make your reservations. You pay exactly the same as if you went up and made the arrangements yourself.

Now is there any reason why those Jewish people who are making trips should not have allowed The Tours to secure the reservations and thus make a commission for Youth Aliyah?

In the first place, the entire plan is one of the most ambitious and imaginative of all United States Jewish fund raising. If James Whitcomb Riley Tours are successful, they become a permanent business organization, taking care of your winter trip to Florida or your Caribbean cruise, and Youth Aliyah continues to receive splendid funds to carry on its humanitarian work.

The most disheartening aspect of the entire venture, has been the failure of Indiana Jewry to do its part. Because you live outside of Indianapolis is no excuse. Even if you live in Madison, Ind., or Petersburg, or the smallest hamlet, if you write to The Tours, 212 Guaranty Building, Indianapolis, and allow them to make your reservations, Youth Aliyah will receive additional funds.

Last week, the employees of Schwitzer-Cummins Co. made a five-day all expense, escorted tour to the New York World's Fair, everything paid, for $49.95 per person through The Tours. Large Indiana organizations, none of them Jewish, apprized of the arrangement have all been very happy to use The Tours.

But not the Jews. It is no secret that our own people have fallen down, and this is in the face of such splendid support from non-Jews. For instance, two Hadassah members went to Lake Wawassee recently, both forgetting to allow The Tours to make their hotel reservations. They gave hours of time and energy to trying to raise funds for Hadassah during the year, but here when they have a simple, costless way of helping, they forget.

The other day, L. Frankovitz went by air to the New York World's Fair. He was thoughtful enough to allow The James Whitcomb Riley Tours to make his plane and hotel reservations, and became The Tours' first plane customer. An Indianapolis attorney is planning a combination vacation at Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies and at Miami Beach, Fla., and being thoughtful, he is making his arrangements through The Tours.

There you are. Indianapolis and Indiana Jewry, if you will wake up, you can make history for the Indianapolis Hadassah. For if The James Whitcomb Riley Tours becomes the success it deserves, then many a child, given a new vision of hope in Palestine will owe eternal gratitude to the ingenuity of an Indianapolis Jewish woman, and the thoughtfulness of Indiana Jewry.

Resignation of McWhirter Asked By B. W. Bradfute, Republican, In The Bloomington Daily Telephone.—For several weeks, the people of Indiana who follow politics and especially the men and women who take an active interest in organization politics have been expecting to hear of the resignation of Felix McWhirter as treasurer of the Republican State Central Committee. In fact, men and women of the Republican organization have been looking at the newspapers day after day expecting to find the news of the resignation of Mr. McWhirter from his position in the party organization—and as this story day after day has failed to appear it is taking on the nature of a mild mystery: Why Doesn't McWhirter Resign?

It is one of the rules of politics—unwritten but iron-clad—for an official to keep clear of all situations which may bring unfavorable publicity or notoriety which may in turn reflect on his party. When a man holds an appointive political position of policy-making rank—or high official position in his party—and either knowingly or innocently gets himself in such a situation the ethics of the political game call for him to resign that position immediately or as soon as the tumult and shouting have died down.

When Mr. McWhirter took to letter-writing and got himself subpoenaed as a witness before the Dies committee at Washington City in connection with a red-hot racial question he was acting as an individual and not as an official of the Republican State Central Committee of Indiana. But the testimony he gave—and it was terrible from a political viewpoint—put him on the front page of practically every newspaper in the country and in these press stories he was named and designated as an official of the Republican party of Indiana. This incident at once ended the usefulness of Mr. McWhirter to the Republican party of Indiana and turned him into a political liability with possibilities of considerable damage to the party.

If Mr. McWhirter had accepted all the consequences of burning his own fingers in the controversial question, he would have resigned while the incident was still front-page-news—and this would have been honorable amends in taking the sting out of the affair as far as was in his power for the party which has honored him. He had the other choice of waiting for an opportune moment to step out of party office—and he may be now waiting for the time to step down and out gracefully. But this second choice, as time goes on puts the Republican party of Indiana in the position of indorsing what Mr. McWhirter has done, in a back-handed manner.

Many men have in the past made political mistakes and blunders but such affairs are generally forgotten unless the individual is so ill-advised as to attempt to ride out his blunder in official position and without taking cognizance of the ethics of politics. If he takes this ill-advised course, he is deliberately violating a second unwritten rule of politics, which is that a political party should not be forced into the position of taking action in such a situation. A man with the passing of time can be forgiven one mistake but if he follows this mishap with the violation of another of the unwritten rules he is killing himself as dead as a mackerel for all time to come in politics—and Mr. Whirter will soon have put himself in this position if he does not resign as treasurer of the Republican party of Indiana.

Dress Designer Would Like Work

To the Editor:

I am an expert dressmaker have been in Indianapolis month. I came from Berlin, where I managed a workshop for p and elegant dresses, blouses, skirts for several years.

Besides designing and making ladies' and girls' dresses, I am pable and willing to alter and every kind of sewing work.

During my stay in New York worked successfully for American ladies and girls, so that I am acquainted with American fashion too.

I should be very much obliged you if you would publish this letter in The Jewish Post, and thus open to me the possibility of founding new existence.

Very truly yours,
MRS. ANNE BERNSTEIN

Director Irving Cummings recently celebrated his twenty-fifth year in flickerdom. Reminiscing he told about the days when he was earning $30 per week. After two pictures he had the temerity to ask for a raise of $5. He lost the job.

In "Unexpected Father," Mischa Auer steals every scene that Sandy isn't in. One day during shooting Mischa's lacrymore was even lacrymoser. The director asked what was the trouble. "We sniffed Mischa, 'when I'm gone why didn't I get a graham cracker?'"

Those boats of drifting refugees were the immediate inspiration for a picture to be produced in Paris... likewise one in London... ditto for one in New York.

The dear, sweet ladies stormed Eddie Cantor's dressing room during his personal appearance in New York came bearing gifts of food... from gefulte to Italian spaghetti.

Which calls to mind the welcome Paul Muni received on arriving Honolulu. Almost crushed by miring fans... his neck choked with leis... he perceived still other necks coming towards him. "Aloha! Aloha!" greeted the lady, and added, "Mit maazel!"
